2 Prerequisites:

A strong aptitude for basic mathematical techniques will be necessary for the course. The following is a partial list of the mathematical techniques that will be used in the course: algebra, vector algebra, analytic geometry, differential and integral calculus.

Completing PHYS 205A and MATH 250, each with a grade C or better, is an official prerequisite for the course.

3 Course description

The course will broadly cover topics on Electricity and Magnetism, and Light and Optics. These are covered in the later part of the textbook starting from Chapter 23. We will cover a fair amount in the limited time available.

Textbook

Physics: for Scientists and Engineers by Raymond A. Serway and John W. Jewett, Jr.
9th Edition, Brooks/Cole Cengage Learning.

Web-pages

SIU Online, powered by Desire2Learn, at <https://online.siu.edu>,

a password protected site, will be used to post grades and necessary materials for the course. Homework will be administered by an online service at <http://www.webassign.net>, which requires the student to register and make a payment. The class key needed to enroll with webassign for this course is siuc 5996 5509.

4 Course work

Evaluation

Homework	30 %
Midterm Exams (3× ~ 16.7 %)	50 %
Final Exam	20 %

Homework

Homework will be assigned regularly, at <http://www.webassign.net>. Homework will be based on the concepts covered in the classroom and will mostly be problems from the textbook. Generally, mastering the concepts requires the student to study and practice the corresponding content in the textbook.

The web based system allows students to take multiple trials to get the right answer and gives instant feedback on the correctness of their final answer. Note that the web based software does not grade the detailed steps of your work, instead it only checks your final answer. Nevertheless, students will be expected to show detailed steps of their thought process in quizzes and exams. Further, answers should have appropriate units and significant figures.

Students are encouraged to discuss the homework with their classmates and everyone around them. Since the web based system is designed such that each student gets a slightly different version of the question, it reduces the chance of outright cheating.

Exams

Four examinations (including the final exam) will be administered.

Midterm Exam 1	September 15 (Thursday, in class)
Midterm Exam 2	October 13 (Thursday, in class)
Midterm Exam 3	November 15 (Tuesday, in class)
Final Exam	December 15 (Thursday, 08:00-10:00 AM)

The midterm exams will assess you on concepts covered in lectures, textbook material, and homework. All the midterm exams will be cumulative, but you are advised to concentrate more on topics covered in the later part of the semester. There will be no make up exams. If your absence from the exam is properly authorized with an appropriate “University form for Excused Absences”, which usually needs to be given to the instructor before the absence, your score in the Final Exam will be used to cover for the missed exam.

Grading

The grading involves 30 % of homework and 70 % of exam. Generally, it is significantly easier to score in homework in comparison to exams. In the past, seventy percent of the students scored more than ninety percent in homework, while only ten percent scored more than ninety percent in exams.

The following is the grading scheme for the course. Here x is the final score in percent. The final column is a recommendation of a possible breakup that one can aim for the corresponding grade.

$85 \leq x \leq 100$	A	(97 % in homework, 80 % in exams)
$72 \leq x < 85$	B	(90 % in homework, 65 % in exams)
$60 \leq x < 72$	C	(80 % in homework, 50 % in exams)
$40 \leq x < 60$	D
$0 \leq x < 40$	F

If your final grade falls too close to a borderline, and if you have an average of more than seventy percent in homework, your grade will be rounded to the next integer.

5 Syllabus Attachment

The Provost Office has put together a “Syllabus Attachment” to assist the student. It lists and provides web links for many elements that are important for a student. Kindly find it appended.

WITHDRAWAL POLICY ~ Undergraduate only

Students who officially register for a session must officially withdraw from that registration in a timely manner to avoid being charged as well as receiving a failing grade for those classes. An official withdrawal must be initiated by the student, or on behalf of the student through the academic unit, and be processed by the Registrar's office. For the proper procedures to follow when dropping courses and when withdrawing from SIU visit: <http://registrar.siu.edu/students/withdrawal.php>

INCOMPLETE POLICY ~ Undergraduate only

An INC grade may be assigned when, for reasons beyond their control, students engaged in passing work are unable to complete all class assignments for the course. An INC must be changed to a completed grade within one full semester (undergraduates), and one full year (graduate students), from the close of the term in which the course was taken or graduation, whichever occurs first. Should the student fail to complete the remaining course requirements within the time period designated, the incomplete will be converted to a grade of F and such grade will be computed in the student's grade point average. For more information visit:

<http://registrar.siu.edu/grades/incomplete.php>

REPEAT POLICY

An undergraduate student may, for the purpose of raising a grade, enroll in a course for credit more than once. For students receiving a letter grade of A, B, C, D, or F, the course repetition must occur at Southern Illinois University Carbondale. Effective for courses taken Summer 2013 or later, only the most recent (last) grade will be calculated in the overall GPA and count toward hours earned.

This policy will be applied to all transferrable credit in that only the last grade will be used to calculate grade point average. Only those courses taken at the same institution are considered repeats under this policy. See full policy at

<http://registrar.siu.edu/students/repeatclasses.php>

GRADUATE POLICIES

Graduate policies often vary from Undergraduate policies. To view the applicable policies for graduate students, please refer to the graduate catalog at

<http://gradschool.siu.edu/about-us/grad-catalog/>

DISABILITY POLICY

Disability Support Services provides the required academic and programmatic support services to students with permanent and temporary disabilities. DSS provides centralized coordination and referral services. To utilize DSS services, students must contact DSS to open cases. The process involves interviews, reviews of student-supplied documentation, and completion of Disability Accommodation Agreements.
