

PHYS 205B-002: UNIVERSITY PHYSICS

SYLLABUS (Spring 2025)

School of Physics and Applied Physics, Southern Illinois University–Carbondale

Last updated: January 14, 2025

1 General information:

Instructor: K. V. Shajesh

Office: Neckers 491, Tel.: +1-618-453-5212.

Email: shajesh@siu.edu

Web-page: <http://www.sphics.com>

Class meetings: TR 4:00-5:15 PM, in Neckers 440.

Office hours: MWF 9:30-11:00 AM; MF 3:00-4:00 PM.

2 Prerequisites:

A strong aptitude for basic mathematical techniques will be necessary for the course. The following is a partial list of the mathematical techniques that will be used in the course: algebra, vector algebra, analytic geometry, differential and integral calculus.

Completing PHYS 205A and MATH 250, each with a grade C or better, is an official prerequisite for the course.

3 Course description

The course will broadly cover topics on Electricity and Magnetism, and Light and Optics. These are covered in the later part of the textbook starting from Chapter 23. We will cover a fair amount in the limited time available.

Essential learning outcomes

The students will be exposed to concepts and ideas that can be deduced from fundamental laws. They will master and perfect these concepts using problem solving techniques by making errors and mistakes in their homework. By reflecting on their thought process in problem-solving they will learn to think critically, honestly, without bias, and cultivate methods to develop instincts from their problem-solving experiences.

Textbook

The following is the assigned textbook for the course:

Physics: for Scientists and Engineers by Raymond A. Serway and John W. Jewett, Jr.
9th Edition, Brooks/Cole Cengage Learning.

An older edition of the assigned textbook, or most of the similar textbooks in the market, should be sufficient for the course. Openly licensed textbooks are also decent substitutes for the assigned textbook, for example, OpenStax, University Physics. OpenStax. 19 September 2016.

This publication is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License. The electronic copy of the textbook is available for free at <https://openstax.org/details/books/university-physics-volume-2>. A professionally printed copy of the publication is available in the market for a nominal price.

Web-pages

Relevant notes, quizzes, and homework will be posted at <http://www.sphics.com/tc/202501-SIU-P205B/>.

It is advisable to download relevant materials to your computer, because the website (or the Internet) could be occasionally down. SIU MyCourses, powered by Desire2Learn (D2L), at a password protected site, will be used to post grades. D2L will also be used for submission of Quizzes and Homework.

<https://mycourses.siu.edu>,

4 Course work

Lectures

The lectures in Fall 2022 were recorded and are good representations of the lectures for this course. They are available on the course webpage.

Quizzes

The questions in quizzes are conceptual. They might be open ended, thus, it is not recommended to spend more than ten minutes on a question. You are encouraged to ponder about it though. Briefly summarize your answer in a few sentences, and submit on D2L. The grading of quizzes will not be for correctness and mostly for attempting.

The points earned in the quizzes decides the percentage of the curve parameter in Eq. (1) used to boost your grade.

Homework

Homework will be assigned about once in a week. Homework will be based on the concepts covered in the lectures. Students are encouraged to discuss the homework with their classmates, everyone around them, and the instructor. Students are allowed to use any resource available to them for completing the homework. Homework submission will consist of scanned images of pages as a single PDF file on D2L.

If a student can attend the lectures and afterwards complete the homework without consulting resources, including the textbook, then the student should consider prepared for the exams. However, if it becomes necessary to refer to resources, which is most often the case, one should keep track of the extent of this assistance. Then, the recommendation is to work on similar problems in the textbook until satisfactory independence has been achieved.

Exams

Four examinations (including the final exam) will be administered.

Midterm Exam 01	February 6 (Thursday, in class)
Midterm Exam 02	March 4 (Tuesday, in class)
Midterm Exam 03	April 15 (Tuesday, in class)
Final Exam	Announced after third week of classes

The Midterm Exams will assess you on concepts covered in lectures, quizzes, homework, and textbook material. All Midterm Exams will be cumulative, but you are advised to concentrate more on topics covered in the later part of the semester. The exams will be graded to get a general notion of the students development in the course.

If your absence from the exam is properly authorized with an appropriate “University form for Excused Absences”, which usually needs to be given to the instructor before the absence, your score in the Final Exam (without the curve) could be used to cover for the missed exam. Makeup exams are discouraged, because their format need not follow the regular exam and are less predictable.

5 Evaluation

Quiz	10 %
Homework	30 %
Midterm Exams (3 × 15 %)	45 %
Final Exam	15 %

Grading

Your work will be graded primarily for the presentation of the thought process. Intermediate steps will be awarded points. The final answer should have the right units and correct number of significant digits. It is the responsibility of the student to present the work clearly.

Assessment

The grading will be done on a scale of 0-100. This ‘Raw Score’ x (out of 100) should be used to assess your knowledge in the subject. The ‘Raw Score’ will be converted to the university scale using the following formula for ‘Your Score’ x' , $$x' = x + ay(100 - x), \tag{1}$$

where $0 \leq a \leq 1$ is the curve parameter chosen by the instructor and $0 \leq y \leq 1$ is determined by your points in quizzes (out of 1.00). For example, for $a = 0.50$ and $y = 0.75$, a ‘Raw Score’ of 60 will lead to ‘Your Score’ of 75. The following is the grading scheme for the course. Here x' is ‘Your Score’ in percent.

$90 \leq x' \leq 100$	A	(100 % in homework, 82 % in exams)
$80 \leq x' < 90$	B	(100 % in homework, 65 % in exams)
$70 \leq x' < 80$	C	(100 % in homework, 50 % in exams)
$55 \leq x' < 70$	D
$0 \leq x' < 55$	F
